

Dermatological emergencies

Dermatological emergencies are one of the many rewarding areas in our discipline where specialist input can hugely improve patient outcomes. This talk will focus on clinical presentation, differential diagnoses, investigations and treatment of the core dermatological emergencies and will provide practical tips to assist with dealing with this problem in the written examination setting as well as in the real world.

